Dear Eric,

I am writing this letter to let you know how happy we are with the construction of the new James H. Andrew Railroad Museum & History Center at the Boone & Scenic Valley Railroad.

The EPS Building has proven to be very energy efficient. When we compare the cost of operation for the new building compared to our original depot building we have found that the 9,000 square foot addition costs about 1/3 as much as our original 5,000 square foot building.

This building has become a showplace building in the city of Boone. We have received compliments from visitors to the railroad from all across the country.

Thank you for your interest early on for being the contractor for the museum and having the insight to choose a company like EPS to provide us with a very energy efficient building.

Respectfully,
